John Kliney, who was graduated from professional baseball into the banking business, was elected Representative from the Twenty-fourth district, and George Tenor Oliver to the Senate to succeed Senator Knox. Tenor and Oliver are natives of County Tyrone, Ireland.

Senator Wesley L. Jones, of Washington, who, with Senator Burton, of Ohio, was promoted from the House, pays a warm tribute to his wife. The sketch of Mr. Jones says he "was married to Miss Nelson at Enfield, Ill., in the fall of 1886, and whatever success he has attained is due to her earnest, faithful help and cheerful self-denial." Mr. Jones also unfolds that he "has never acted as attorney for a railroad, telegraph, or express company."

"The House of the Sixty-first Congress embraces in its membership the champion legislator of American history," says Edward Thomas Taylor, Representative-at-large from Colorado. He adds: "Has the reputation of having been the author of more important laws and constitutional amendments than any person that ever sat in any legislature of any State in the Union."

While serving as postmaster at Caruthersville, the biography of Representative Crow, of Missouri, relates that "several times he called the attention of Congress to the manner of weighing the mails; Congress finally revised the method, whereby it is estimated a saving of $10,000 a year was effected."

Was Formerly a Democrat. Another new member from Missouri is Charles Henry Morgan, who comes to this Congress as a Republican, having served four terms previously as a Democrat. He discloses no reason for his change of faith.

An interesting figure in the House is Delegate Cameron, of Arizona, Republican. He defeated the veteran Mark Smith last fall. Mr. Cameron built the "Bright Angel" trail into the Grand Canyon of the Colorado.

The baby of the House is Palitte Elvins, of Missouri, who was sworn in the day on which he completed his thirty-first year. Secretary Dickinson, of the War Department, makes no reference to his politics in the sketch of himself. The official portrait stated in Secretary MacVeagh's biography is that he was the Democratic candidate for United States Senator in the '90s.

The Soldiers, Sailors, and Marines' Club, at 317 C street, attracted a large and fashionable gathering of army and navy men and women for the tea and sale given there yesterday, for the benefit of the enlisted men, and under the auspices of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Army and Navy League. Mrs. Aulick Palmer, chairman of the committee on arrangements, had charge of the entertainment.

Mrs. Z. L. Tanner had charge of the tea table, and the fancy tables were presided over by Mrs. W. H. Bell, Mrs. Lyman Tiffany, Mrs. Owen Oakley, Mrs. L. B. Galloway, and Miss Florence Adams.

The first of the three lecture recitals to be given by Mrs. Harriet R. Labadie will be given this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Henry Cleveland Perkins at 339. The subject will be "A day in the life of a hero," and the proceeds will go to the Homeopathic Hospital. The second will be given March 30 at the home of Mrs. George F. Huff, when the subject will be "Stories of the wayside," and the last, "King Henry the Eighth," will be given at the Arlington Hotel, with Mrs. Dalzell as hostess.

The patronesses are Mrs. James McMillan, Mrs. Mark Hanna, Mrs. Stephen B. Elkins, Mrs. John Hay, Mrs. Charles H. Ackert, Mrs. T. De Witt Talmage, Mrs. John A. Logan, Mrs. T. L. RECORDS ARE GIVEN

Sixty-first Congress Directory Contains Biographies.

MUCH SPACE GIVEN TO TAFT

President Occupies About Three Times as Much of the Record as Did His Predecessor—Some Members Tell of Their Good Deeds—Their Wives, Too, Are Mentioned.

The first edition of the directory of the Sixty-first Congress contains the biographies of the new Vice President, fourteen new Senators, seventy-four new Representatives, and five others who previously served in Congress.

There are also biographies of the new President and seven new members of the Cabinet.

As Senator, Secretary Knox is known to the readers of the directory. Secretary Meyer went to the Navy Department from the Post-office, and "Tama" Jim Wilson enters upon his fourth consecutive term as Secretary of Agriculture.

What will probably strike readers as the most notable thing in the edition is the sketch of President Taft.

It occupies about three times as much space as did that of his predecessor. Heretofore Senators Dewey and Du Pont, and Representatives Keifer and Sherwood have been "bunched" for first place in the sweepstakes for length of biography.

Long List of Voyages.

About half the sketch of President Taft is devoted to a list of the voyages and globe-trotting he enjoyed while governor of the Philippines and Secretary of War.

One of the new Senators is former Gov. Bradley, of Kentucky, whose biography shows that he read the story of Bruce and the spider to good advantage. He was twice defeated for Representative in Congress, once for governor, and four times for United States Senator.

John Kliney, who was graduated from professional baseball into the banking business, was elected Representative from the Twenty-fourth district, and George Tenor Oliver to the Senate to succeed Senator Knox. Tenor and Oliver are natives of County Tyrone, Ireland.

Senator Wesley L. Jones, of Washington, who, with Senator Burton, of Ohio, was promoted from the House, pays a warm tribute to his wife.
